

Muhammad al-Fatih Elias Fadl al-Mawla

ABOUT ME

I am a high school graduate and university student. I have traveled throughout the state, including cities and refugee camps, working with NGOs, state ministries, and international organizations. I studied project management and its departments and toured the state to understand the differences in society.

The reason I participated in the competition

I entered this valuable competition because it is an opportunity and a challenge that will push me forward.

I am also tired of the political stagnation, economic tension, and the lack of a progressive and developmental mindset, which is why I entered the competition. I am thinking about my university stage, where I will study climate change and its disasters.
